

My change I made to the game was to add a timer that constantly counts down, if the timer reaches zero the game ends, but by clearing lines the timer increases the more lines at once the better. I choose to do this because the blocks that I have created are much bigger in size so you can fill the board a lot faster, but be careful as its high risk high rewards as big pieces might fill up the board and make you loser faster.